

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

SONJIA MACK,

Case No.: 2:18-cv-00799-APG-VCF

Plaintiff

Order Certifying Questions to the Supreme Court of Nevada

V.

BRIAN E. WILLIAMS, et al.,

Defendants

8 I respectfully certify to the Supreme Court of Nevada the following questions of law that 9 may be determinative of matters before me and as to which there is no clearly controlling 10 precedent in the decisions of the Supreme Court of Nevada or the Nevada Court of Appeals:

- Is there a private right of action under the Nevada Constitution, Article 1, § 8?
- Is there a private right of action under the Nevada Constitution, Article 1, § 18?
- If there is a private right of action, what immunities, if any, can a state actor defendant raise as a defense?
- If there is a private right of action, what remedies are available to a plaintiff for these claims?

I. BACKGROUND

18 Sonja Mack sues state employees Brian Williams, James Dzurenda, Arthur Emling, and 19 Maya Laurian, alleging she was unreasonably detained and strip searched without a warrant or 20 her consent while visiting High Desert State Prison (HDSP). She also alleges the defendants 21 indefinitely suspended her visiting privileges at HDSP without due process. She asserts federal 22 constitutional claims under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 and their state law equivalents under the Nevada
23 Constitution.

1 The defendants moved for summary judgment on all of Mack's claims but presented no
2 arguments specific to the state law claims. I granted summary judgment on Mack's federal 3 procedural due process claim arising from the detention and strip search because the defendants
4 are entitled to qualified immunity. And I granted summary judgment in the defendants' favor on 5 Mack's claims alleging cruel and unusual punishment, a procedural due process violation based 6 on her suspended visiting privileges, and an equal protection violation. I denied summary
7 judgment on Mack's unreasonable search and seizure claims under federal and state law because 8 the defendants are not entitled to qualified immunity and genuine issues of fact remain as to 9 whether Mack consented to a strip search and whether the defendants had reasonable suspicion
10 to conduct a strip search. I also allowed Mack to proceed on her state procedural due process
11 claim based on the detention and strip search because qualified immunity "does not shield
12 defendants from state law claims." Johnson v. Bay Area Rapid Transit Dist., 724 F.3d 1159, 13 1171 (9th Cir. 2013). Thus, the following claims remain pending: (1) deprivation of procedural 14 due process under the Nevada Constitution Article 1, § 8 based on the defendants detaining and 15 strip searching Mack without a warrant or her consent and against prison regulations; and 16 (2) unreasonable search and seizure in violation of the Fourth Amendment of the United States
17 Constitution and Article 1, § 18 of the Nevada Constitution.

18 Both parties moved for reconsideration. I denied Mack's motion. The defendants now 19 argue that there is no private right of action under the Nevada Constitution. They also argue that 20 if such a right exists, Nevada courts would apply the doctrine of qualified immunity consistent
21 with the corresponding federal constitutional case law. I reconsidered the portion of my order
22 allowing the state law claims to proceed because the Supreme Court of Nevada has not addressed
23 whether a private cause of action exists under Nevada Constitution, Article 1, §§ 8 and 18.

1       Whether a private right of action exists under the Nevada Constitution and, if so, what
2 defenses and remedies are available are important and novel questions of Nevada law. Thus, I
3 certify the above questions because (1) the Supreme Court of Nevada should be allowed to 4 interpret and decide important state law issues in the first instance; and (2) certification will save
5 time and judicial resources. See Thompson v. Paul, 547 F.3d 1055, 1065 (9th Cir. 2008)
6 (“Certification of open questions of state law to the state supreme court can in the long run save
7 time, energy, and resources and helps build a cooperative judicial federalism, but its use in a
8 given case rests in the sound discretion of the federal court.” (quotations and alterations 9 omitted)).

11 Plaintiff: Sonja Mack

12 Defendants: Brian E. Williams, Sr., James E. Dzurenda, Arthur Emling, Jr., and Myra Laurian.

14 state law claims because there is no private right of action under the Nevada Constitution, I
15 designate the plaintiff as the appellant.

10 DETERMINATION OF THE QUESTIONS CERTIFIED

11 I defer to the Supreme Court of Nevada to decide whether it requires any other 12 information to answer the certified questions. I do not intend my framing of the questions to 13 limit the Supreme Court of Nevada's consideration of the issues.

14 | V. CONCLUSION

16 summary judgment (ECF No. 27) under official seal to the Supreme Court of the State of
